

Contents

Introduction from the publishing staff 7

transition, conversions, returns

Danièle Hervieu-Léger (CEHES, Paris) The converted, a representation of the religious extreme modernity 11

conversion in ancient writings and societies

Jean-Christophe Attias (EPHE, Paris) About the proselyte and power. Exclusion and integration logic in the rabbinic mind 24

Jacqueline des Rochettes (Institut Catholique, Toulouse) Teshuvah in the Bible. Conversion or conversation? 34

Claude Denjean (Univ Toulouse II) In favor of a history of conversion Spain, XIIth-XVIth 45

Gérard Nahon (EPHE, Paris) Bordeaux Sainte-Eulalie parish: a "marraneo" flavor in the XVIIIth century? 64

Michel Bertrand (Univ Toulouse II) Is Conversion connected to religious syncretism? Reflections on evangelisation in South America 78

contemporary issues

Catherine Poujol (diaspora, Toulouse) Neither converted, nor marrane. Aimé Palliere's mystical path towards unity 99

Sébastien Tank-Slorper (CEHES, Paris) About conversion in judaism. A political history 106

Sophie Nizard (Univ Mary Bloch Strasbourg) Conversion of adopted children in a Jewish environment at stake 114

Nadine B. Weibel (SDRE, Strasbourg) Islamic converted women "taking" the veil: an ultimate passing rite 131

Raphaël Liogier (CEP, Aix en Provence) Reflections in favor of a comprehensive sociology of converted western people to buddhism 135

documents

"The Converted woman" (text published by the writer Albert Vidal in 1903) 149

"The Sardes, the Jews and racism during Mussolinian times" (article written by Emilio Lussu, 1938, translated and presented by Eric Vial) 151

The conversion of a Jew to protestantism in the 1940th (extract from Joseph Zwiebel, Jewish because Christian, 1945, introduced by Anne Vigier-Zwiebel) 159

Two centuries of a French Jewish family history (Olivier H.) 171

A way towards judaism (Martine Merlin-Dhaine, introduced by Chantal Bordes-Benayoun) 175

research in process

The exilic experience analysed from a long duration perspective (Maison de la Recherche, Toulouse, March 20-21, 2003, introduced by Anny Bloch-Raymond) 182

Exile and persecution: Jews and Huguenots, XVIIth-XVIIIth centuries (Lyon Conference 17-18 October 2002, introduced by Virginie Surget) 190

library

abstracts

215