

Contents

Introduction from the publishing staff 7

fictional genealogies

asserting differences through actual ancestry or spiritual filiations

Bertrand Van Ruymbeke Puritan and Cavalier: the Image of the Huguenot Refugee in the United States 12

Pierre Laurence Saracens in French Valley? Genesis and Modern Perception of a Legendary Tale in Cevennes 23

Ilan Greilsammer Dream Genealogy in Cisjordania and Gaza. The Intricate Filiation between Occupied Territories "Colonists" and Old Times Glorious Pioneers 37

the "lost tribes" of Israel: a recurrent motif

Tudor Parfitt The Development of Fictive Israelite Identities in Papua New Guinea and the Pacific (17th-22nd C.) 49

Daniel Friedmann Mythical Origins and Fictive Genealogical Narratives among the Falashas (Ethiopian Jews). From Individual Filiations to Group Genealogies 57

Isabelle Lacoue-Labarthe The Thirteenth Khazar Tribe: a Genealogical Dream or Nightmare? 71

the issue of origins in the colonial context

Anna Pondopoulo-Sanchez The Question of Peul Origins (Western Africa). Mythical Genealogy and Identity Making Process (19th-20th century) 87

Françoise Raison-Jourde Desperately Seeking Hindu-Buddhist Ancestors for Madagascar. A Fictive Genealogy during Colonial Times (1920s-1950s) 98

Colette Zytnicki "A Three Thousand-year-old Filiation": A Text from the Historian Nahum Slouschz about the Origins of Jews and Judaism in Africa (1909) 109

document

The Peddler (by Anny Bloch-Raymond) 118

miscellanies

The Jacobite Presence in Toulouse during the Eighteenth Century (by Edward Corp) . . . 124

Transmission and Filiation in the Protestant World: The Cevennes Prophetism in the World in the 18th Century (by Jean-Paul Chabrol) . . . 146

Writing History in the Middle of a "Storm": Léon Kahn (1851-1900), a Historian of the Parisian Jewish Community (by Laurent Broche) 157

classicals from the diaspora history and sociology

Simon Dubnow, "Diaspora" 171

research in process 183

library 203

abstracts 237